

European Society of Paediatric Clinical Research 24th Meeting

INVITATION

First announcement

June 19-20th, 2015 – Budapest, Hungary

Basic Medical Science Center, Semmelweis University
H-1094 Budapest, Tűzoltó street 37-47.

On behalf of the Hungarian Conference Organizing Committee, we cordially invite you to the 24th Scientific Meeting of European Society of Pediatric Clinical Research (ES-PCR), which is organized jointly by the 1st Department of Pediatrics, Semmelweis University Hungary and the Hungarian Pediatric Association. The conference will take place on June 19-20, 2015 in Budapest, Hungary.

European Society of Pediatric Clinical Research (ES-PCR) is the traditional meeting of young researchers and their professors from different fields of pediatrics. For more than two decades it joins the participants from several Central European countries, enables young researchers and clinicians to present their scientific work, interesting cases and findings, and gives the opportunity to create and to preserve international cooperations. Besides the selected presentations we will have a young keynote speaker with state of the art lecture. We hope that the scientific program will be robust, innovative, and diverse, that could help the participants to share the latest results and to expand their knowledge.

The meeting will start on Friday morning (June 20, 2015) with oral presentations. Participants are kindly requested to submit a scientific or clinical abstracts. All abstracts will be anonymously reviewed by the Scientific Committee and chosen either for oral or poster presentation. The duration of presentations in session meeting is limited to 15 minutes, including discussion. The official language is English. An exciting social program, including a gala reception will also accompany our scientific program.

We promise that you will have an enriching and memorable time, and look forward to seeing you in Budapest,

Prof. Attila J Szabó, MD, DSc
*Head of the 1st Department of Pediatrics,
